Black Tea

"A wife of noble character who can find? She is worth far more than rubies." This verse, while specifically about a virtuous wife, speaks to the value and rarity of something precious, akin to fine, rare teas. Proverbs 31:10

Lapsang Souchong

正山小种

Lapsang Souchong is a black tea originated from the Wuyi region of Fujian, best known for its uniquely smoky scent. In its processing, the tea is smoked with pine wood, sure to remind you of the warmth of a campfire.

Green Tea

Gyokuro

恩施玉露

Gyokuro YuLu is China's only major steamed green tea to survive down to the modern day.

The aroma changes into something sweetly floral while still deeply vegetal, most notable for its deep umami sensation. In addition to the thick and viscous presence on the tongue, the brew has a nutty toasted rice taste with the sweetness of spring violets hidden among its creamy flavors.

White Tea

Silver Needle

云南银针

Silver Needles consist of purely pekoes from the tea plant, have a sweet velvety taste and mouthfeel. The tea is minimally processed and simply dried, attributing to its high.
